

Kate Quail

My Experience

I'm a family carer with a long career in health & care, including in clinical & commissioning roles. I was a member of the original national Transforming Care steering group.

I have been a Trustee of Royal National Mencap and other charities.

I am a member of the Public Health England Advisory Group on Learning Disability & Autism.

I Enjoy.....

Spending time with my family.

Running in the park.

Yoga.

Meeting friends for tea and cake and a good chat.

My Skills and Knowledge

Representing the views & needs of people with a Learning Disability &/or autism & their families & carers. Multi-agency working between health, education, social care, the voluntary, charity & community sectors.

Skilled at positive, collaborative discussions and providing helpful, constructive challenge.

What is important to me

That all people with Learning Disability and/ or autism are listened to properly and that their rights are fully respected. That people get excellent, respectful services & care based on what they say they need.

What people say about me

That I am collaborative, friendly, with a good sense of humour. Very hard working. I never give up, especially in getting the best care and services for people with Learning Disability and / or autism / and or mental health problems.
