

Aleesha

My Experience

I have worked with people in different ways throughout my career, including supporting autistic people and people with a learning disability across different ages and settings.

I have led a company that supported disabled people to find work opportunities and succeed in the workplace.

I am experienced in research and understanding information to help organisations make good decisions and plan for the future.

I enjoy working with people, building relationships, and finding ways to make things better.

I Enjoy.....

Gardening and growing fruit and vegetables.

Cooking, trying new recipes, and sharing food with family and friends.

Travelling and exploring new places.

Spending time with my husband and children.

My Skills and Knowledge

Listening to people and understanding different experiences.

Researching information and using it to help make decisions.

Leadership and managing a business.

Planning, organising and solving problems.

Supporting and encouraging others to develop and achieve their goals.

Working with people and building positive relationships.

What is important to me

Everyone is treated with kindness and respect.

Everyone has strengths, skills and something valuable to contribute.

People have a voice and are involved in decisions about their own lives.

This includes choice, independence, and control over what matters to them.

Being honest, fair and open and listening to people's lived experience.

What people say about me

I am a good listener and take time to understand others.

Calm and approachable and someone who makes people feel comfortable.

Reliable trustworthy and fair.

Thoughtful, patient and always willing to help.